

SILVER LININGS

Back in those days I used
To be a little more confused
And every time you looked my way I fell
But each time you held out your hand
Without a shadow of a reprimand
And now I want to know you well

Maybe I had fallen far, but now i'm flying high
Maybe I forgot to hold you near
And maybe I began to weep, but now my joy's so deep
And I know I belong right here

Every moment that you had my back
When I wandered off the beaten track
And all those things I thought I lacked you gave
The memories overflow
But i am white as snow
And i am feeling very brave

Maybe I had fallen far, but now I'm flying high
Maybe I forgot to hold you near
And maybe I began to weep, but now my joy's so deep
And I know I belong right here

I would have flown to the edge of my dreams
I hope you know this life is not what it seems
Would you undo every lie ever told
Our skins are silver linings and inside we are gold